

Claudio Ronco, PhD

Director of the International Renal Research
Institute of Vicenza (IRRIV), Italy

- Graduated in medicine from the University of Padua, Italy in 1976
- Director of Department of Nephrology at St. Bortolo Hospital, Vicenza, Italy since 2002
- Co-authored 994 papers, 85 book chapters and 62 books, and delivered more than 650 lectures at international meetings and universities.
- Council member of several scientific societies and editor emeritus of the International Journal of Artificial Organs
- Editor-in-Chief of Blood Purification and Contributions to Nephrology
- Numerous honors and awards including, in 2004, the lifetime achievement award and honorary membership in the Spanish Society of Nephrology, the National Kidney Foundation International Medal of Excellence and in 2009, the ISN Bywaters Award for Acute Renal Failure